FORMERLY OF FLEMING

John N. Wooliscroft Died Saturday at His Home in Covington

Mr. John Noland Wooliscroft, for many years a prominent grain merchant of Cincinnati, died Saturday at his home in Covington, aged 59.

He was born in Galesburg, Ill., his father being the Rev. Absalom Wooliscroft and his mother Harriet Ann Noland.

During his youth he lived in Flemingsburg; and it will be recalled that he was one of the speakers at the Tobacco Fair in this city two years ago, when he referred with singular tenderness to his happy young life in Fleming and in Maysville.

Mr. Wooliscroft is survived by his widow, who was Miss Mattie Hughes, whom he married in 1879, and two daughters, Miss Sara Lucy Wooliscroft and Miss Rachael Anger Wooliscroft.

UNIFORM SPRINKLING

Good Suggestions on the Subject Offered By a Business Man.

A gentleman passing down Third street on Friday morning narrowly escaped a thorough drenching from a so-called "hose sprinkler" in the hands of a woman on the sidewalk. She was "looking one way and shooting the other."

This so-called sprinkling is a nuisance that should be done away with, now and forever.

In one place you have water and mud two inches deep, and twenty-five feet away dust ready to fill your eyes with real estate the first passing breeze.

Let us have a sure enough sprinkler that will do the business properly and do away with the men and women "behind the hose."

GENERAL DRAGOMIROFF urges the Czar to continue the war. Evidently the rambunctious General won't be satisfied until the Japs knock him off.

THERE are 622,354 Knights of Pythias in the United States; and there would have been 622,355 if a fool with a pistol hadn't killed a candidate out in Arkansas a few nights ago.

You may say what you please as to the fairness of the CALEB POWERS trials; but the fact remains that the Court of Appeals has three times declared that he was not fairly convicted.

R. W. BACON was the Juror who canoodled with the Hargis Attorneys in an effort to "fix" a Jury that would clear his friends. If the Court does its duty, HARGIS will have a hard time saving his bacon.

THE HON. J. HAMILTON LEWIS, former member of Congress and now a leader of the Chicago Socialist Democracy, thinks municipal ownership will finally extend to the Nation, and that "the American people will be called upon to decide whether running the mails of this country successfully they cannot also run the telegraphs and the railroads." "Running the mails successfully" is good—devilish good—as long as the people whack up a deficit of from $4,000,000 to $8,000,000 a year! How long would private enterprise stand such wilful waste?

THE death of Hon. ED. DAUM, Commonwealth's Attorney for this District, will necessitate the choice of his successor at the coming November election. In the meantime the Governor will appoint some one to fill the place.

IN the trial of Judge JAMES HARGIS in the Fayette Circuit Court a sensation was sprung by the confession of a Juror that he had counseled with and advised Attorneys for the defense as to the names of men who would be beneficial and who would not be beneficial to the defense if placed on the Jury. A little thing like that ought not to have occasioned the least "sensation." With the Jury-fixing methods introduced into Kentucky by TOM CAMPBELL, and successfully practiced in the Caleb Powers trials, people are becoming quite accustomed to bribery and corruption "under the forms of law."

EVEN the University of Virginia, founded eighty years ago by THOMAS JEFFERSON, has departed from its "Jeffersonian simplicity." Dr. EDWARD ANDERSON ALDERMAN has been installed President of the University. Unusual interest attached to the event as marking the first change in the governmental policy of the institution established by Mr. JEFFERSON, and to which that famous statesman enthusiastically devoted the latter period of his life. Jeffersonian simplicity of government of the institution did not contemplate a President. JEFFERSON wrote in its charter that government should be administered by a Board of Regents, a Chairman for which should be annually elected from among the Professors. Along these lines the University of Virginia grew to its place as a potent factor among the higher institutions of learning of the South. The recent development of the University has rendered its efficient administration impracticable under the old methods, and the change is made to meet the larger demands.

"There Isn't One Really Good Printer in Five Hundred."

Printers' Ink—the leading journal on publicity of all kinds—has the following to say: "There are thousands of printers in this country, good, indifferent, and a lot of bad ones. There isn't one really good printer in five hundred. Intelligent advertisers are willing to pay for good printing, no matter where it comes from."

Printers' Ink knows what it is talking about. Poor printing is a bad investment—it's worse than a blank. A business man's stationery or booklet is like a traveling man—if it's neat, well-dressed and to the point, the first impression is good and your chances of doing business on the strength of it are good.

We realize this. We keep abreast of the times. We know what good printing is and produce it. We are pretty careful not to let a bum job get onto our presses. No press in the country can better our printing and we want you to know it.

IMPRESSIVE INCIDENT

Pretty New York Stenographer's Life Saved By a Hug

You would not wish to see a more extraordinarily impressive incident than one which held a New York subway crowd silent for a moment yesterday, says the correspondent of The Times-Star. Upon the concrete flooring of the Fourteenth Street Station, the sunlight streaming down upon her from the glazed roof over which shuffled the traffic of a city street, a young girl, her form still palpitating with the horror of a look into death's very eyes, knelt and gave thanks to God that her life had been spared. There was nothing theatrical about the incident. It was not a striving for effect. So filled with sincere and simple earnestness was the girl's act that she appeared—and probably was—quite unconscious of the presence of the score or more of people who watched her. With her hands clasped upon her breast and her whole attitude one of devotion, she raised her eyes, brimming with tears, and spoke her prayer of thanksgiving even as she might have done in the solitude of her bed-chamber. Then she rose and made her way to the street without a glance to right or left.

The girl was Isobel Collins, a stenographer. With a girl companion she had attempted to board an express train. The sliding door of the car was closed by a careless guard just as the train started. Miss Collins was shut out of the car, but her skirt was caught in the door. Bystanders heard one startled shriek and saw the girl dragged along the concrete platform to what seemed a certain death. A policeman had sufficient presence of mind to hurl himself upon her, as a football player would tackle an opponent. Miss Collins, furthermore, may never again declare that she hasn't been hugged. The brawny policeman wound his arms about her, shoved his foot against the base of a pillar, and gave one tremendous pull. An instant more and the girl would have been dragged over the edge of the platform to a frightful death. But the pull and the hug saved her.

There was a sound of tearing fabric—and then the policeman carried a dead weight of fainting girl to the nearest bench. A patch of cloth, as broad as your two hands, was missing from the bottom of her skirt. Half the women in the station were hysterical, and half the men fell over one another, running for a doctor. Some one brought a glass of water and sprinkled the girl's face. She came to consciousness with a scream, as well she might, having seen and felt death facing her in her last conscious moments. Then, when it had been found that she was not seriously hurt, such a flood of thankfulness surged into her heart that she knelt and prayed. It was a pretty incident. But she might have given that policeman a chance to show what he could do without the interfering effect of a subway train attached to a young lady's skirt.

Ledger Leaves.

It's with Mrs. Nation like it is with a good many others—only a step from the saloon to Jail.

Confinement likely will only make Mrs. Nation more alert and active at her business when it is over.

The great trouble with most people is that they can't keep money long enough for it to become "tainted."

Rockefeller might try Dr. Dowie with that hundred thousand. Likely he wouldn't throw it back on his hands.

It seems that Mr. Rockefeller desired to place that hundred thousand where it "would do the most good" as he thought.

It may have been that Rockefeller thought that that hundred thousand would purchase immunity from pulp attacks.

The time was, and not far back either, when a millionaire was considered a greater curiosity in this country than a monkey.

The refusal of the Church people to accept of the Rockefeller gift likely won't have the effect of deterring others from offering.

Referring to the offer of the hundred thousand dollars, the Congregational Preachers said in effect to Mr. Rockefeller, Taint wanted.

That little episode in which Rockefeller and the Church have figured will doubtless cause Russell Sage to close his mouth like an oyster against all appeals for foreign missions or any other kind.

Bracken's Representative Will Not Go to Senate This Time

Mass conventions were held in Grant, Pendleton and Bracken counties Saturday, to send delegates to the Senatorial Convention which meets at Falmouth tomorrow.

Among the candidates for the Senatorship is Hon. S. D. Rigdon of Germantown, present Representative from Bracken.

The delegates chosen by Grant county are instructed for Hon. O. P. Hogan, "first, last and all the time."

Pendleton did not instruct, but favors Hogan.

Bracken delegates are also uninstructed; but they must vote for a Blackburn man.

PLENTY OF GAME

A Maysville Man's Brief Hunt in Southern California

THE LEDGER is permitted to print these excerpts from a letter received by Dr. A. G. Browning from his son Throop, who is now in Southern California—

"Any game?" you ask. Some; quite a variety in fact; for instance: taking a recent evening walk, took my gun. I always take my gun; it lends a sense of being glad that you have a gun! And one reason why is you sometimes encounter a blue-ribbon tarantula—too big for description at close quarters. Such was the first to dispute my right of way—the very largest ever showing up to me. But for my gun, should have "cut stick." The result was, a little fuz and a number of divorced legs embossing the highway.

Next came an innocent dove, which I ruthlessly put out of business; then a bunny; later an old friend, a rattler! We eyed each other briefly, his last look was from an isolated head in the bushes. Didn't at sight, (not till he was much dead) examine his rattlers; there seemed to be eleven—was in too great haste for particulars. A little further on encountered a chattering coyote, which took liberty of a wink at me; I let go at the wink and he landed in glory!

Being night time I wended home, coyote and rabbit in one hand, dove and gun in other, rattler over shoulder, tarantula in fragments to suit, as trophies of brief hour's tramp. In these occasional sorties have bagged a full hundred and fifty rabbits of big sort, during past winter, and unnumbered dozens of quail.

Yes, we have game here; fact is it requires game to tackle tarantulas, rattlesnakes and birds of like feather!

About Rheumatism.

There are few diseases that inflict more torture than rheumatism, and there is probably no disease for which such a varied and useless lot of remedies have been suggested. To say that it can be cured is, therefore, a bold statement to make, but Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which enjoys an extensive sale, has met with great success in the treatment of this disease. One application of Pain Balm will relieve the pain, and hundreds of sufferers have testified to permanent cures by its use. Why suffer when Pain Balm affords such quick relief and costs but a trifle? For sale by all Druggists.

THE CHRISTIAN SPIRIT

Noble Example Set By Woman in a Depot at Cincinnati

At the Grand Central Depot at Cincinnati recently was noticed a poorly dressed woman and emaciated babe.

Across from them sat a well-to-do appearing lady with a bright healthy babe also.

The latter was seen to approach the seat of the poor woman and engage in earnest conversation.

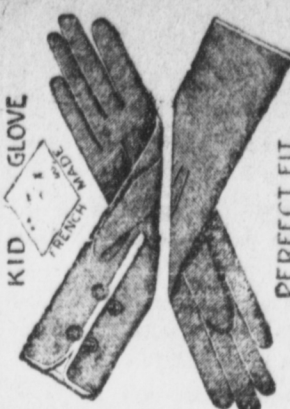

Upon coming away from her the lady called to the waitress about the Station and handed her a bill to get changed, which upon being returned, part was handed to the suffering woman, whom it developed had had nothing to eat for some time nor anything to purchase food.

The kind-hearted lady was quick to discern the condition of her poor sister and acted in time to save her from dire want and distress, while many would have turned away.

"Inasmuch as ye have done it unto the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the Best and Most Popular.

"Mothers buy it for croupy children, railroad men buy it for severe coughs and elderly people buy it for the gripe," say Moore Bros., Eldon, Iowa. "We sell more of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy than any other kind. It seems to have taken the lead over several other good brands." There is no question but this medicine is the best that can be procured for coughs and colds, whether it be a child or an adult that is afflicted. It always cures and cures quickly. Sold by all Druggists.

It is Economy to Buy The Best

Especially when buying seeds to plant and supplies for your table. I have just opened up a very large invoice of

D. M. Ferry's Garden and Melon SEEDS

Known the world over to be the best. When you buy them you make no mistake; also, a big supply of

PURE NORTHERN SEED POTATOES

Grown especially for seed; also, Onion Sets, white and yellow. Special prices to dealers and large growers on all the above-named goods.

SPECIAL CUT PRICES ON CANNED GOODS continues. Keep the old list by it. In addition I have just gotten a lot of Damsen Plums in three-pound cans; very fine; as long as they last they go at 3c for 25c. At the price they are dirt cheap. A few barrels of Fancy New Crop Molasses left; as long as they last they go at 45c. Every one who has bought my line Blended Coffee is more than pleased. They still go at 15c, 20c and 25c; no money for me at that, but a snap for you. My stock of Green Coffee and Fine Teas is always full and up-to-date. And when it comes to flour, Perfection has no competitor. Every barrel guaranteed to be just as recommended. Try a package of Saxon Wheat Food, or a package of Dr. Price's Cherry Food or Hominy Grits, all very fine. A full supply of Apples, Oranges, Bananas and Lemons at all times. A few barrels only of very fine Greenup County Sorghum left; price as long as they last 40c. Come right along and get the worth of your money in goods, new, fresh and clean and always the best.

Latest News

It was reported at St. Petersburg yesterday that the Baltic Squadron met and engaged two British cruisers under the impression that they were Japanese and sank them.

Information has reached Washington through Europe that the Japanese Navy has within the past few days commissioned ten new torpedo boat destroyers, built in Japanese shipyards. It is believed that within six weeks twenty-five additional destroyers, building under "rush" orders, will be put in commission.

Dr. Daniel K. Pearsons of Chicago says he will have no Executor, but will give his fortune away before he dies, much of it going to mountain schools in Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia.

The outlook is not favorable for the early settlement of the teamsters strike in Chicago. Mayor Dunne, however, has not abandoned hope, and believes he will find a means to adjust the difficulty.

Justice Gaynor of Brooklyn has issued an order requiring District Attorney Jerome and Assistant District Attorney Rand to surrender to J. Morgan Smith and wife the letters and documents belonging to them, which are in those officials' hands.

What We Are Aiming At

To build up in Maysville the greatest exclusive millinery establishment ON MERIT.

The central idea is to give reliable styles in good standard materials.

The shapes are more varied than ever—exclusiveness is indicated on every side—hundreds of hats and no duplicates. Elegance, exclusiveness and moderate prices go hand in hand here.

As these facts dawn upon our patrons our business grows.
